“The Texas Cuba Trade Alliance (TCTA) serves as a collective information hub for Texans wanting to export to Cuba. ‘While federal law currently allows the export of agricultural products and food products to Cuba, there is low recognition and awareness of these opportunities,’ said Glen Jones, director of Research, Education and Policy Development for the Texas Farm Bureau. Texas farmers, ranchers, and agribusinesses will have access to a TCTA Internet site (<http://www.tcta.us>) that covers trade related topics and provides access to trade related resources. The media and public are invited to participate in TCTA conference calls on current topics, which will provide a forum for questions and comments. The first public TCTA conference call is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 27 at 9:30 a.m. and will last about one hour. John Kavulich, president of the US-Cuba Trade and Economic Council, will be the featured speaker and will discuss ‘Doing Business with Cuba.’ To register for the conference call contact (979) 845-3070.”
