Introduction

MAY IT PLEASE THE COURT:

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(2), defendants – A.P. Moller-Maersk A/S (a/k/a A.P. Moller-Maersk Group) ("APMM"), Maersk A/S (a/k/a Maersk Line A/S) ("Maersk A/S"), Maersk Inc. ("Maersk Inc."), and Maersk Agency U.S.A., Inc. ("Maersk Agency") – move this Court to dismiss plaintiffs' claims because this Honorable Court lacks personal jurisdiction over all Maersk defendants. Because these defendants are not at home in Louisiana and/or the United States, and because plaintiffs' claims against the Maersk defendants under the Helms-Burton Act (22 U.S.C. §6021 et seq.) do not bear the requisite "substantial connection" to the State of Louisiana or the United States of America, the required hallmarks for the allowable exercise of either general or specific jurisdiction are wholly absent. Since any such exercise would offend the traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice and would violate the constitutional due process concerns enunciated by the governing jurisprudence of the U.S. Supreme Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, the Maersk defendants are not subject to the exercise of personal jurisdiction in this Honorable Court.

Therefore, as set forth in depth herein, defendants respectfully request that this Court grant their motion, and dismiss the present action under Rule 12(b)(2) for want of jurisdiction.

Factual Background

Plaintiffs herein, Odette Blanco de Fernandez née Blanco Rosell et al, bring claims against defendants under the Helms-Burton Act, 22 U.S.C. §6021 et seq., relating to property supposedly confiscated by the government of Cuba in 1960.[1] Specifically, the lead plaintiff here (Ms. Odette Blanco de Fernandez) alleges that certain property of hers and her four now-deceased siblings was confiscated by the Cuban government on September 29, 1960, including companies that owned docks, warehouses and land near Mariel Bay in Cuba.[2] Plaintiffs then allege that the Cuban government subsequently incorporated their supposedly confiscated property into the Zona Especial de Desarollo Mariel ("ZEDM"), which houses a container terminal in the Port of Mariel.[3] In asserting the claim for civil remedies here, plaintiffs allege that the Maersk defendants "knowingly and intentionally direct[ed] the container ships" to the container terminal in the ZEDM and allegedly "engage in commercial activities" in the Port of Mariel, the sum of which plaintiffs ultimately assert constitutes a violation of the Helms-Burton Act.[4] Of note, plaintiffs generally do not differentiate between the Maersk defendants in making these allegations, except to connect only foreign defendant APMM to any shipping routes to Cuba (but which, according to their allegations, tellingly originate from Europe).[5]

The four Maersk defendants are disparate companies, with two – APMM and Maersk A/S – formed under the laws of, and headquartered abroad in, the Kingdom of Denmark.[6] The two domestic Maersk defendants – Maersk Inc. and Maersk Agency – are organized under the laws of New York and Delaware respectively, and both maintain their principal places of business in New Jersey.[7] Broadly speaking, the Maersk defendants' business sounds in worldwide shipping and logistics, and the named defendants here occupy distinct portions of that global supply chain.[8] APMM is the parent holding company for a consolidated global transport and logistics business that includes subsidiaries in the arenas of container shipping, terminals and logistics.[9]

Then, Maersk A/S is a worldwide shipping container company and ocean carrier that transports cargo around the globe via owned and chartered oceangoing vessels.[10] Maersk Agency is the U.S. agent for Maersk A/S, and handles bookings of ocean shipments for U.S. imports and exports.[11] Lastly, though it is no longer an actively operating company, Maersk Inc. was the former U.S. agent for APMM's shipping business.[12]

Importantly though, none of the Maersk defendants is headquartered in, or centers its business or operations, in the State of Louisiana. As for the domestic entities, Maersk Inc. and Maersk Agency do not maintain any business offices in Louisiana.[13] Moreover, neither domestic Maersk defendant maintains any bank accounts or other assets here, nor does either one own, lease or rent any immovable property and/or office space in the State of Louisiana, or conduct its business out of any Louisiana physical office.[14] Likewise, the two foreign entities – APMM and Maersk A/S – center their business operations abroad, and not in the United States.[15] For both APMM and Maersk A/S, the respective companies' global activities are directed and controlled from the Copenhagen locale, and any presence in the United States pales in comparison to APMM's and Maersk A/S's business presence overseas.[16]

In their attempt to manufacture a jurisdictional footing in this forum, plaintiffs seemingly try to connect their statutory claims concerning confiscated Cuban property to Louisiana by way of nebulous references to the Port of New Orleans.[17] First, plaintiffs allege that the Maersk defendants "transact business" in the State by utilizing the Port of New Orleans relating to transport of containers and initiation of voyages directly to Port of Mariel, Cuba.[18] Setting aside for the moment that such allegations are insufficient to invoke personal jurisdiction, the Maersk defendants utilize ports all over the world on any given day, as is to be expected given the shipping industry in which they operate, and the Maersk defendants do not regularly call at the Port of Mariel, never mind doing so "directly" from the Port of New Orleans.[19] Additionally, plaintiffs focus on the fact that they are allegedly U.S. nationals[20]; however, that angle misunderstands the nature of the defendant-focused jurisdictional due process inquiry.

And as a last-ditch effort to create a Louisiana link here, plaintiffs also allege that the A/S PETRA sailed directly from the Port of New Orleans to the Port of Mariel, Cuba, under the directions of Maersk A/S, specifically on four discrete dates – 20 January 2020, 31 January 2020, 20 May 2020 and 12 August 2020.[21] However, those allegations are incorrect, as the A/S PETRA did not call at the Port of Mariel, Cuba on any of those dates.[22] And contrary to plaintiffs' allegations, the A/S PETRA was not directed to call nor did she call at the Port of Mariel by any of the Maersk defendants between January 2016 and the filing of this suit.[23] Lastly, while plaintiffs' allegations concerning the non-U.S. routes of five other vessels supposedly operated or chartered by Maersk – the ARTEMIS, the GALANI, the GEESKE, the MACAO STRAIT and the ALGOL – are irrelevant to the jurisdictional inquiry here, they are also inaccurate and further support that these vessels did not call the Port of Mariel while in operation for any Maersk defendant.[24] establish that personal jurisdiction cannot be exercised over any of the Maersk defendants. Therefore, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(2) requires dismissal.

Law and Argument

I. Applicable Legal Standards for a Rule 12(b)(2) Motion to Dismiss

In a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(2), "[t]he plaintiff bears the burden of establishing jurisdiction, but need only present prima facie evidence. [The court] must accept the plaintiff's uncontroverted allegations, and resolve in his favor all conflicts between the facts contained in the parties' affidavits and other documentation." Patterson v. Aker Sols. Inc., 826 F.3d 231, 233 (5th Cir. 2016) (quoting Revell v. Lidov, 317 F.3d 467, 469 (5th Cir. 2002)) (internal quotation marks omitted).

"The prima facie burden does not, however, 'require the court to credit conclusory allegations, even if uncontroverted.'" Stewart v. Marathon Petroleum Co. LP, 326 F.Supp.3d 284, 289 (E.D. La. 2018) (Africk, J.) (quoting Revell, 317 F.3d at 469 and Panda Brandywine Corp. v. Potomac Elec. Power Co., 253 F.3d 865, 869 (5th Cir. 2001)). And in considering a Motion to Dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, courts are permitted to consider not only the pleadings in the record, but also affidavits and discovery-like supporting evidence. See, e.g., Bryant v. Salvi, 141 F. App'x 279, 281 (5th Cir. 2005).

Because plaintiffs' jurisdictional allegations fall far short of meeting the necessary prima facie threshold, and because defendants' supporting materials conclusively establish that no permissible basis exists for the exercise of personal jurisdiction in this Honorable Court, this action should be dismissed for want of jurisdiction under Rule 12(b)(2).

II. Governing Law on Personal Jurisdiction

a. Personal Jurisdiction under the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution

A federal district court can exercise personal jurisdiction over a nonresident defendant where two prerequisites are satisfied – first, the forum state's long-arm statute confers personal jurisdiction over that nonresident defendant, and second, the exercise of personal jurisdiction comports with the Fourteenth Amendment's due process clause. See, e.g., Int'l Energy Ventures Mgmt., L.L.C. v. United Energy Grp., Ltd., 818 F.3d 193, 212 (5th Cir. 2016); Breathwit Marine Contractors, Ltd. v. Deloach Marine Servs., LLC, 994 F.Supp.2d 845, 848 (S.D. Tex. 2014).

"Because the Louisiana long-arm statute extends to the limits of due process, [courts] collapse the two-step inquiry into a single question: Would the exercise of personal jurisdiction over the defendants be permissible under the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment?" Willow Bend, L.L.C. v. Downtown ABQ Partners, L.L.C., 612 F.3d 390, 392 n.1 (5th Cir. 2010) (citing La. R.S. 13:3201(B) and Walk Haydel & Assocs., Inc. v. Coastal Power Prod. Co., 517 F.3d 235, 242-43 (5th Cir. 2008)). To utilize the oft-quoted verbiage in this arena, due process concerns are satisfied with respect to a nonresident defendant only "if the defendant has certain minimum contacts with the [forum] State such that the maintenance of the suit does not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice." Goodyear Dunlop Tires Operations, S.A. v. Brown, 564 U.S. 915, 923 (2011) (quoting Int'l Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310, 316 (1945)) (internal quotations and alterations omitted).

Since the days of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in Helicopteros Nacionales de Colombia, S. A. v. Hall, 466 U.S. 408 (1984), it is hornbook law that personal jurisdiction takes two potential forms, with courts distinguishing between specific (or case-linked) jurisdiction and general (or all-purpose) jurisdiction. See, e.g., Goodyear, 564 U.S. at 919. And over the last several decades, the Court has painstakingly delineated the inquiries associated with each of the two types of personal jurisdiction.

The U.S. Supreme Court's respective Goodyear, Daimler and BNSF decisions form a jurisprudential trilogy that definitively sets forth the limited circumstances in which a district court can properly exercise general jurisdiction over a foreign corporate defendant. "Goodyear and Daimler clarified that a court may assert general jurisdiction over foreign (sister-state or foreign-country) corporations to hear any and all claims against them when their affiliations with the State are so 'continuous and systematic' as to render them essentially at home in the forum State." BNSF Ry. Co. v. Tyrrell, 137 S.Ct. 1549, 1558 (2017) (emphasis added); see also Daimler AG v. Bauman, 571 U.S. 117 (2014); Goodyear, supra.

Via the aforementioned decisions, the Court established firmly that there are two "paradigm forums" in which a foreign corporate defendant can be "at home" – its place of incorporation and its principal place of business. BNSF, 137 S.Ct. at 1558. In addition to those two "paradigm forums," the Court established there can be the rare "exceptional case" where "a corporate defendant's operations in another forum 'may be so substantial and of such a nature as to render the corporation at home in that State.'" Id. (quoting Daimler, 571 U.S. at 139 n.19). In limiting the possible forums, the Court reasoned that "exorbitant exercises of all-purpose jurisdiction would scarcely permit out-of-state defendants to structure their primary conduct with some minimum assurance as to where that conduct will and will not render them liable to suit." Daimler, 571 U.S. at 139 (quoting Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 472 (1985)).

In very recently reiterating these policy considerations, the Supreme Court reminded that general jurisdiction is untethered to any relationship between the State and the claim, and "that breadth imposes a correlative limit: Only a select 'set of affiliations with a forum' will expose a defendant to such sweeping jurisdiction." Ford Motor Co. v. Mont. Eighth Judicial Dist. Court, 141 S.Ct. 1017, 1024 (2021) (quoting Daimler, 571 U.S. at 137). To that end, the Court has re-affirmed multiple times now its modern principle that general, all-purpose jurisdiction is to be exercised only in the limited place(s) that fit within its three specified possibilities. See, e.g. BNSF, 137 S.Ct. at 1558-59. A forum outside of those particular options is impermissible, thus mandating dismissal under Rule 12(b)(2) in the event that arises.

Emphasizing the importance of this "redefined" analysis for general jurisdiction, the Fifth Circuit spoke at length on these issues in Frank v. PNK (Lake Charles) L.L.C., 947 F.3d 331 (5th Cir. 2020). There, the Fifth Circuit warned against the application of earlier case law to the jurisdictional analysis, explaining that such earlier cases are "wide of the mark" after Daimler because such cases "predate the 'at home' test." Id. at 340. Citing BNSF, the Fifth Circuit reiterated the Supreme Court's holding that the "at home" analysis of Goodyear and Daimler now controls the exercise of general personal jurisdiction, such that only these aforementioned cases represent the current standard of this "redefined" jurisdictional analysis. Id. at 337, 340.

With respect to specific jurisdiction, the Supreme Court's decisions in Walden and Bristol-Myers Squibb have set the governing tone for some time, now supplemented by the recent Ford Motor Company decision. In Walden v. Fiore, the U.S. Supreme Court reaffirmed that the inquiry into specific jurisdiction "focuses on the relationship among the defendant, the forum, and the litigation," and squarely set forth that "[f]or a State to exercise jurisdiction consistent with due process, the defendant's suit-related conduct must create a substantial connection with the forum State." 571 U.S. 277, 283-84 (2014) (emphasis added). A critical aspect of this inquiry is that the focus is on contacts that the defendant himself creates with the forum State. Id. at 284 (quoting Burger King Corp., 471 U.S. at 475). The Court then confirmed these principles in Bristol-Myers Squibb Co. v. Sup. Ct. of Cal., San Francisco Cty., setting forth also that "[i]n order for a court to exercise specific jurisdiction over a claim, there must be an 'affiliation between the forum and the underlying controversy, principally, an activity or an occurrence that takes place in the forum State and is therefore subject to the State's regulation.'" 137 S.Ct. 1773, 1780 (2017) (quoting Goodyear, supra).

Speaking at length on this issue in its topical Ford Motor Company decision, the Court further reinforced the importance of a connection between the defendant's forum state activities and the litigation at hand. 141 S.Ct. at 1024-25. Differing from the breadth of general jurisdiction, specific jurisdiction "covers defendants less intimately connected with a State, but only as to a narrower class of claims." Id. at 1024. Owing to that principle, specific jurisdiction revolves around "an idea of reciprocity between a defendant and a State: When (but only when) a company 'exercises the privilege of conducting activities within a state'—thus 'enjoying the benefits and protection of its laws'—the State may hold the company to account for related misconduct." Id. at 1025 (quoting International Shoe, 326 U. S. at 319 and citing Burger King, 471 U. S. at 475-476) (emphasis added). After reiterating that the "most common formulation of the rule demands that the suit arise out of or relate to the defendant's contacts with the forum," the Court went on to highlight the requirement that a substantive relationship must exist between the plaintiff's suit and a defendant's activities in the forum State, pointing out that the prevailing standard "incorporates real limits, as it must adequately protect defendants foreign to a forum." Id. at 1026. In all, the Ford Motor Company Court confirmed the jurisprudential commitment to the principle that "a strong relationship among the defendant, the forum and the litigation" forms "the essential foundation of specific jurisdiction." Id. at 1028; see also Zoch v. Magna Seating (Germany) GmbH, 810 F. App'x 285, 288 (5th Cir. 2020) ("Whether specific jurisdiction can be properly asserted over a non-resident defendant is dependent on the relationship among the defendant, the forum, and the litigation.") (quoting Walden, 571 U.S. at 283-84).

As shown herein, in light of the prevailing standards, the pertinent and uncontroverted facts do not permit the exercise of either general or specific jurisdiction over any of the Maersk defendants, which warrants dismissal under Rule 12(b)(2).

b. Personal Jurisdiction under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2)

Specific to the foreign defendants sued here, plaintiffs also pled as a jurisdictional basis Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2), which is the narrow jurisdictional alternative applicable to certain foreign defendants. "Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2) provides for service of process and personal jurisdiction in any district court for cases arising under federal law where the defendant has contacts with the United States as a whole sufficient to satisfy due process concerns and the defendant is not subject to jurisdiction in any particular state." Patterson, 826 F.3d at 234 (quoting Adams v. Unione Mediterranea Di Sicurta, 364 F.3d 646, 650 (5th Cir. 2004)). The critical consideration for this analysis is whether the defendant "has sufficient contacts with the United States to satisfy due process." Id.

The Fifth Circuit and district courts therein apply a burden-shifting framework to a Rule 4(k)(2) inquiry, wherein the plaintiff first bears the burden of making a prima facie case that the rule applies. See, e.g., Adams, supra; Johnson v. PPI Tech. Servs., L.P., 926 F.Supp.2d 873, 882–83 (E.D. La. 2013) (Barbier, J.). In order to make that prima facie case, the plaintiff must show that: 1) the claim arises under federal law; 2) personal jurisdiction is otherwise unavailable under any situation-specific federal statute; and 3) the defendant's contacts with the United States as a whole satisfy the constitutional requirements. Johnson, 926 F.Supp.2d at 883. "Additionally, the plaintiff must certify that, based on the information that is readily available to the plaintiff and his counsel, the defendant is not subject to suit in the courts of general jurisdiction of any state." Id. (quoting U.S. v. Swiss American Bank, Ltd., 191 F.3d 30, 41 (1st Cir. 1999)). Only if plaintiff makes the prima facie case does the burden shift to the defendant to show that either it has insufficient contacts with the U.S. as a whole to support personal jurisdiction or that it is subject to jurisdiction in another state. Id. Overarchingly, "[i]t is the plaintiff's burden to establish that Rule 4(k)(2) creates personal jurisdiction if it wants to avail itself of that rule in establishing personal jurisdiction." MWK Recruiting, Inc. v. Jowers, 2019 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 226401, at *23-24 (W.D. Tex. July 29, 2019) (quoting Grynberg v. BP P.L.C., 855 F.Supp.2d 625, 638 n.31 (S.D. Tex. 2012), aff'd 527 F. App'x 278 (5th Cir. 2013)) (internal marks omitted).

More often than not, the pivotal prong in any Rule 4(k)(2) analysis is the constitutional due process inquiry. While Rule 4(k)(2) provides a slightly different route to the exercise of personal jurisdiction, the due process concerns remain the same as in a traditional personal jurisdiction evaluation, simply adapted to examine a defendant's contacts with the United States as a whole. Patterson, 826 F.3d at 234 ("The due process required in federal cases governed by Rule 4(k)(2) is measured with reference to the Fifth Amendment, rather than the Fourteenth Amendment."); accord Axiom Foods, Inc. v. Acerchem Int'l, Inc., 874 F.3d 1064, 1072 (9th Cir. 2017) ("The due process analysis under Rule 4(k)(2) is nearly identical to traditional personal jurisdiction analysis with one significant difference: rather than considering contacts between the defendant and the forum state, we consider contacts with the nation as a whole.") (quoting Holland Am. Line Inc. v. Wartsila N. Am., Inc., 485 F.3d 450, 462 (9th Cir. 2007)).

In the wake of Goodyear and Daimler, the Fifth Circuit's Patterson decision recognized the changing jurisdictional landscape of modern times and set forth the proper 'minimum contacts' analysis – "to assert general personal jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2), [defendant's] contacts with the United States must be so continuous and systematic as to render it essentially at home in the United States." 826 F.3d at 234 (citing Daimler and Goodyear, supra). Echoing Goodyear, the court reminded that "[t]he proper forum for exercising general jurisdiction over a corporation is one in which a corporation is fairly regarded at home," so where defendant's place of incorporation and principal place of business are abroad, "to exercise general jurisdiction …, these facts must yield what the Supreme Court has described as the 'exceptional case.'" Id.

The Patterson court reminded that the Supreme Court had only found a sufficient basis for the exercise of general jurisdiction over a non-resident defendant once in modern times, which was in Perkins v. Benguet Consol. Mining Co., 342 U.S. 437 (1952) – a case where (as discussed infra) the defendant displayed an extensive amount of contacts with the United States. Id. at 235. Notably, the court highlighted how a foreign corporation's having employees in the U.S. is insufficient to warrant the exercise of personal jurisdiction, and how rare it is for Fifth Circuit courts to find general jurisdiction over a foreign defendant. Id. at 235-36. In reaching its ultimate conclusion that the exercise of jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2) was inappropriate since the contacts with the U.S. as a whole were "insufficient to satisfy due process concerns," the Patterson court's opinion suggests that a corporation would need to effectively operate its core business functions from the U.S. in order to warrant the exercise of personal jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2). Id. at 237.

Other district court decisions from the Fifth Circuit reinforce the rarity of the "exceptional case" of general jurisdiction post-Goodyear. See, e.g., Douglass v. Nippon Yusen Kabushiki Kaisha, 465 F.Supp.3d 610, 612 (E.D. La. 2020), aff'd 2021 U.S. App. LEXIS 13009 (5th Cir., Apr. 30, 2021); MWK Recruiting, 2019 U.S. Dist. LEXIS at *24-25 (holding that foreign defendant's U.S.-based employees and U.S.-based marketing efforts did not constitute sufficient contacts with the United States as a whole that would satisfy due process concerns with Rule 4(k)(2)); Firefighters' Ret. Sys. v. Royal Bank of Scotland PLC, No. CV 15-482, 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 122982 at *3 (M.D. La. Aug. 4, 2017) (finding it did not have personal jurisdiction over defendant who was incorporated in Scotland and maintained its principal place of business in London, even though defendant maintained four physical offices in the U.S. and received almost $25 million in Louisiana business deals); Norman v. H&E Equip. Servs., Inc., No. 3:14-CV-367, 2015 WL 1281989, at *4-5 (M.D. La. Mar. 20, 2015) (declining to exercise general jurisdiction over defendant that operated three plants in the state of Louisiana, where its place of incorporation and principal place of business were elsewhere); Jetter v. Servicio Marina Superior, LLC, No. CIV.A. 14-585, 2014 WL 4693251, at *1 (E.D. La. Sept. 22, 2014) (holding general jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2) improper, where defendant was a Mexican company that conducted some business in the United States by occasionally contracting with U.S. companies).

While Rule 4(k)(2) principles often invoke tenets sounding in general jurisdiction, where a foreign defendant cannot be said to be "essentially at home in the United States," Rule 4(k)(2) jurisdiction may be available in a specific jurisdiction sense, where "[plaintiff's] federal claim arises from or is directly related to [foreign defendant's] contacts with the United States." MWK Recruiting, supra at *26. In other words, where a plaintiff seeking to utilize Rule 4(k)(2) "has not shown that [defendant's] contacts with the United States are 'continuous and systematic,' … it must show that its federal claim arises from or is directly related to [defendant's] contacts with the United States." Id.; see also, e.g., GCIU-Emplr. Ret. Fund v. Coleridge Fine Arts, 808 F. App'x 655, 661 (10th Cir. 2020); Spike, LLC v. Huawei Techs. Co., Ltd., 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 194468, at *9 (E.D. Tex. June 6, 2016) (finding that Rule 4(k)(2) could not afford personal jurisdiction because "[plaintiff's] cited evidence fails to show that [defendant's] activities within the United States relate to [plaintiff's] claim of patent infringement").

In short, to take advantage of Rule (4)(k)(2) as a jurisdictional avenue, plaintiffs here would have to show that either APMM and Maersk A/S are "essentially at home" in the United States or that plaintiffs' claims directly relate to APMM's and Maersk A/S's U.S. contacts. As explained below, plaintiffs cannot do either here, which warrants dismissal.

III. Neither general nor specific jurisdiction can permissibly be exercised by this Court over any of the Maersk defendants under the governing jurisprudence.

a. Because Louisiana unquestionably is not a "paradigm forum" and none of the Maersk defendants is "at home" in the State of Louisiana, the exercise of general jurisdiction is impermissible.

As detailed above, the Supreme Court's jurisprudential trilogy of Goodyear, Daimler, and BNSF establishes that there are only three places in which a nonresident corporate defendant can be subject to a court's personal jurisdiction. 137 S.Ct. at 1558. Thus, in order to carry its burden of proving the prima facie existence of general personal jurisdiction over the Maersk defendants, plaintiffs must establish one of the following three things: 1) one or more of their respective places of incorporation is Louisiana; 2) one or more of their respective principal places of business is located in Louisiana; or 3) one or more of their respective operations in Louisiana are "so substantial and of such a nature as to render the corporation at home" here. But under the facts of this case, plaintiffs cannot carry that burden, and any pursuit of general jurisdiction accordingly fails.

The initial avenues upon which general jurisdiction can run are one of the two "paradigm forums," which are a defendant's place of incorporation and principal place of business. To concisely describe the uncontroverted facts pertinent to this facet of the inquiry, the following table paints a picture that is in no way Louisianan:

Defendant Entity	Place of Incorporation	Principal Place of Business
APMM	Denmark	Copenhagen, Denmark
Maersk A/S	Denmark	Copenhagen, Denmark
Maersk Inc.	New York	Florham Park, New Jersey
Maersk Agency	Delaware	Florham Park, New Jersey

Conspicuously absent from the foregoing table[25] is the State of Louisiana. Therefore, Louisiana is obviously not a "paradigm forum" that would support the exercise of general jurisdiction here.

That leaves just one other possibility that would support a constitutionally appropriate exercise of general jurisdiction over foreign (sister-state or foreign-country) defendants, which is that this is somehow "the exceptional case" where one or more of the Maersk defendants is "so heavily engaged in activity in Louisiana as to render it at home" here. BNSF, 137 S.Ct. at 1559. This inquiry mandates examining the defendants' activities in their entirety, and determining where a corporation can be fairly deemed to be "at home." Id. Of note, the Supreme Court has only once found that a foreign corporate defendant satisfies that "at home" standard, which was in its post-World War II decision in Perkins, 342 U.S. 437 (1952), that long predates the "at home" analysis of Goodyear and Daimler. See BNSF, 137 S.Ct. at 1558. What sets Perkins apart is that the foreign corporation there had completely halted its operations in its foreign homeland during the war, and the company consequently was entirely managed and controlled from its U.S. office that became "the center of the corporation's wartime activities." 342 U.S. at 448. Alas, Perkins presented a unique situation not only where the nature of contacts demonstrated that it was "at home" in Ohio during WWII, but also it was not "at home" in the Philippines during that same period. As illustrated by the factual background above, this sort of exceptional circumstance simply does not exist under the facts here for any Maersk defendant.

Recognizing the very high bar these cases set, the Fifth Circuit has observed that "[i]t is, therefore, incredibly difficult to establish general jurisdiction in a forum other than the place of incorporation or principal place of business." Monkton Ins. Servs., Ltd. v. Ritter, 768 F.3d 429, 432 (5th Cir. 2014). And the undisputed facts establish that plaintiffs cannot do so here.

[25] See Exhibit 1, ¶¶ 3-7, for attestations as to the facts within the table.

Undoubtedly, "Maersk" is a well-known name worldwide in the shipping industry. But as the Court stated in Daimler, because "[a] corporation that operates in many places can scarcely be deemed at home in all of them," the general jurisdiction inquiry requires a comparison and analysis of the defendant's in-forum contacts as compared to the defendant's nationwide and global activities and contacts to determine if a corporation is "at home" in the forum, which here in Louisiana. 571 U.S. at 139 n.20. When conducting this requisite "appraisal of a corporation's activities in their entirety, nationwide and worldwide," the declarations attached hereto well illustrate that none of the Maersk defendants center their operations in Louisiana, and that their "home base" locations are elsewhere – namely Europe and New Jersey.[26]

And specific to Maersk Agency, while plaintiffs appear to base the allegation of personal jurisdiction over that entity on its registration with the Secretary of State to do business in Louisiana,[27] the jurisprudence makes abundantly clear that such a fact does not show a corporation is "at home" in the State and thus does not meet the high bar to exercise general jurisdiction. See Firefighters' Ret. Sys. v. Royal Bank of Scot. PLC, No. 15-482-SDD-EWD, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 41078, at *15 (M.D. La. Mar. 29, 2016) ("Fifth Circuit precedent has consistently held that being qualified to do business in a state and the appointment of a registered agent for service alone cannot support the exercise of general jurisdiction. Such precedent is further strengthened post-Daimler.") (emphasis added); see also Wilderness USA, Inc. v. Deangelo Bros. LLC, 265 F.Supp.3d 301, 310-15 (W.D.N.Y. 2017).

In light of the standards above, not a single Maersk defendant is subject to general jurisdiction in the State of Louisiana. Since none of the entities has its place of incorporation or principal place of business in Louisiana, this Honorable Court is not a "paradigm forum" for any of the four defendants here. And because plaintiffs have failed to plead allegations that could even possibly suggest that any Maersk defendant is "essentially at home" in Louisiana, the rare "exceptional case" does not exist here either. Thus, general jurisdiction is unallowable over all Maersk defendants in this litigation.

[26] Exhibit 1, ¶¶ 3-32.
[27] See R. Doc. 1, ¶ 30.

b. Because the facts here fail to create the requisite "substantial connection" between the Maersk defendants, the State of Louisiana and plaintiffs' Cuba-centric claims, specific jurisdiction likewise does not exist under the facts of this case.

Specific jurisdiction "can be asserted where a corporation's in-state activities are not only continuous and systematic, but also give rise to the liabilities sued on." Daimler, 571 U.S. at 138 (quoting Int'l Shoe Co., 326 U.S. at 317). As an overarching principle, in order for a district court to permissibly exercise specific jurisdiction, the nonresident defendant's own suit-related conduct must create not just a connection, but a substantial connection with the forum State. Ford Motor Co., 141 S.Ct. at 1024-28; Bristol-Myers Squibb, 137 S.Ct. at 1780; Walden, 571 U.S. at 284; see also Sayers Constr., L.L.C. v. Timberline Constr., Inc., 976 F.3d 570, 573 (5th Cir. 2020) ("To that end, our inquiry focuses on 'actions by the defendant . . . that create a substantial connection with the forum State.'") (quoting Burger King, supra).

Stemming from that guiding tenet, the Fifth Circuit utilizes a three-step analysis to evaluate whether the exercise of specific jurisdiction is permissible: 1) whether the moving defendant has minimum contacts with the forum state, which examines (inter alia) whether that defendant "purposefully availed itself of the privilege of conducting activities there," 2) if so, whether the cause of action asserted by the plaintiff arises from or directly relates to those minimum contacts, and 3) if so, whether the exercise of jurisdiction is both fair and reasonable. Monkton Ins. Servs., 768 F.3d at 433. And echoing the Supreme Court's guidance in Walden, "[t]he convenience of the plaintiff and his contacts with the forum state are not factors in the defendant-focused due process determination" associated with personal jurisdiction. Shaneyfelt

v. Norfolk Dredging Co., 2020 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 210071, at *6 (E.D. La. Nov. 10, 2020) (citing Walden, 571 U.S. at 284). But here, plaintiffs have not made a single credible allegation connecting the alleged events underlying this litigation to Louisiana contacts of defendants (if any), which renders specific jurisdiction nonexistent and the exercise of same impermissible.

In attempting to manufacture a basis for specific personal jurisdiction in Louisiana, plaintiffs focus on the voyages of the A/S PETRA from the Port of New Orleans to the Port of Mariel in Cuba, and they seemingly concoct for themselves a non-existent trade route from Louisiana to the allegedly confiscated property in Cuba.[28] Problematically for plaintiffs though, such a route did not and does not exist.[29] In fact, the A/S PETRA never called the Port of Mariel between 1 January 2016 and 1 July 2021, and also never called the Port of New Orleans between 30 July 2018 and 20 October 2020.[30]

Tellingly, besides the inaccurate references to the A/S PETRA, the Complaint is devoid of any other purported connection to the State of Louisiana, never mind the requisite substantial one. Really all that can be gleaned from plaintiffs' Complaint is that they take issue with vessels purportedly operated by or affiliated with Maersk visiting a container terminal in the Port of Mariel in Cuba.[31] But that gripe does not implicate any alleged Maersk defendant's connections to the State of Louisiana (which are denied).

And lastly, like with any specific jurisdiction analysis post-Walden, the emphasis lies in examining the defendant's own interactions with the forum that must create the forum connection, and the governing jurisprudence looks for the involvement of a state-regulated activity that is tied to the litigation. See Bristol-Myers Squibb, 137 S.Ct. at 1780; Walden, 571

[28] R. Doc. 1, ¶¶ 32-36.

U.S. at 283-84. Yet the voyages of Maersk-owned vessels to the Port of Mariel referenced by plaintiffs were undertaken by third-party foreign operators, not by any of the Maersk defendants.[32] Moreover, the particular actions relied upon by plaintiffs for their specific jurisdiction angle – the transport of container cargo to a particular port in Cuba – does not affiliate with activity regulated by the State of Louisiana, as the Supreme Court guidance requires. Bristol-Myers Squibb, 137 S.Ct. at 1780. Simply put, the Louisiana-related portion of Maersk's or any third-party operators' container transport is not at issue here, and no substantial tie exists between Louisiana and the complained-of conduct in Cuba. Thus, specific jurisdiction cannot permissibly be exercised in Louisiana over any Maersk defendant.

While jurisdictional decisions regarding Helms-Burton Act claims are limited to date (given that the practical availability of the civil remedy is rather recent), the Southern District of Florida recently declined to exercise general jurisdiction over the foreign defendant alleged to have violated the Helms-Burton Act. Herederos de Roberto Gomez Cabrera, LLC v. Teck Res. Ltd., No. 20-21630, 2021 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 80235 (S.D. Fla. Apr. 27, 2021). After reinforcing the modern constitutional analysis, the court first found that the Canadian corporate defendant was not subject to general jurisdiction because neither its place of incorporation nor its principal place of business was in Florida. Id. at *7-8. Moving on to specific jurisdiction, the court held that plaintiff's allegations failed on that front as well, stating that "[t]he Plaintiff fails to explain how its claim for unlawful trafficking in Cuba is related to Teck's activities in Florida," which precluded the exercise of specific jurisdiction. Id. at *8-9. Similarly here, plaintiffs failed to allege any relationship between any Maersk defendant's activities in Louisiana and its claim for unlawful trafficking in Cuba, which forecloses any possibility of specific jurisdiction.

[32] See generally Exhibit 2.

And Teck was not the first time the Southern District of Florida rejected jurisdictional arguments with respect to Helms-Burton claims. In Del Valle v. Trivago GMBH, No. 19-22619, 2020 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 92395 (S.D. Fla. May 22, 2020), plaintiffs brought a Helms-Burton claim relating to hotels purportedly built on their property allegedly confiscated by the Cuban government, with the resorts then made available to U.S. and international tourists for booking through travel websites such as those operated by the defendants, Booking.com and Expedia Group. Plaintiffs sought to support the exercise of jurisdiction over the defendants by arguing that because the respective websites were accessible in Florida, specific and/or general jurisdiction existed; however, the district court wholeheartedly disagreed. Id. at *5-12.

Regarding specific jurisdiction, the court found that the accessibility of the websites in Florida did not satisfy the requirements for the permissible exercise of same. Id. at *5-10. The court first noted that even if the websites' business activity in Florida or with Florida residents was linked to the cause of action (without deciding whether it was or was not), such online business activity was insufficient to support specific jurisdiction. Id. at *7-10. Moreover, the court rejected plaintiffs' overarching argument concerning the relationship of the websites to the actual cause of action, stating that "[h]ere, the Plaintiffs bring a Helms Burton claim, alleging that the Defendants trafficked in their confiscated property, which occurred in Cuba." Id. at *10. In other words, because the Helms-Burton claim bore no connection to the alleged Florida activity, specific jurisdiction was impermissible. Id.

To support the exercise of specific jurisdiction here, plaintiffs would need to show a substantial connection between this specific litigation, one or more of the Maersk defendants and the State of Louisiana. In short, it is of no moment that Maersk allegedly operated in Cuba and/or at the particular port of Mariel in Cuban waters, and it is likewise of no moment that third-party operators may have directed Maersk-owned vessels to the container terminal supposedly located on plaintiffs' confiscated property.[33] There is no link in that chain between Louisiana and this litigation, and as such, those factoids are irrelevant to the conversation. Because plaintiffs cannot meet one of the three required prongs in the applicable Fifth Circuit test, specific jurisdiction cannot be exercised, warranting dismissal.

IV. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2) does not afford this Honorable Court personal jurisdiction over the foreign-country defendants, as the exercise of same would violate the governing jurisdictional tenets.

As discussed above in Section II(b), plaintiffs bear the burden of establishing the applicability and constitutionality of exercising personal jurisdiction under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2), which they have alleged affords jurisdiction over the foreign Maersk defendants – APMM and Maersk A/S.[34] In short, the prima facie case for same requires the plaintiff to show at the outset that: 1) the claim arises under federal law; 2) personal jurisdiction is not otherwise available under another situation-specific federal statute; 3) the defendant is not subject to jurisdiction in any particular state; and 4) the foreign defendant has the requisite contacts with the U.S. as a whole that are sufficient to satisfy constitutional due process concerns. See, e.g., Patterson, supra.

Plaintiffs' Helms-Burton claims here obviously arise under federal law (28 U.S.C. §6082) and no other situation-specific statute supplies personal jurisdiction, so those first two prongs are met. And as signified by this jurisdictional challenge, neither APMM nor Maersk A/S concedes personal jurisdiction in any American state. As such, the pivotal question on which the Rule 4(k)(2) inquiry turns here is of the constitutional variety – does APMM and/or Maersk A/S have

[33] See R. Doc. 1, ¶ 31.
[34] As the other two defendants – Maersk Inc. and Maersk Agency – are American corporations with places of incorporation and principal places of business in the U.S., Rule 4(k)(2) can only possibly be applicable to the foreign entities APMM and Maersk A/S.

the level of contacts with the U.S. as a whole to satisfy constitutional due process concerns, as laid out by the U.S. Supreme Court from Goodyear forward? For both foreign defendants, the answer here is "no."

As the pertinent jurisprudence illustrates, Rule 4(k)(2) encompasses the distinct parameters of both general and specific jurisdiction, which in turn requires application of the correlating due process standards, simply adapted to examine contacts with the United States as a whole. See, e.g., Patterson, supra; Fintech Fund, FLP v. Horne, 327 F.Supp.3d 1007, 1018 (S.D. Tex. 2018); accord Abelesz v. OTP Bank, 692 F.3d 638, 660 (7th Cir. 2012) ("While Rule 4(k)(2) applies a broader geographic standard for which contacts are relevant, the minimum in the 'minimum contacts' that are constitutionally sufficient to support general or specific jurisdiction is the same.").

For the permissible exercise of general jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2), plaintiffs here must show that APMM's and/or Maersk A/S's "contacts with the United States must be so continuous and systematic as to render it essentially at home in the United States." Patterson, 826 F.3d at 234 (citing Daimler, supra and Submersible Sys., Inc. v. Perforadora Cent., S.A. de C.V., 249 F.3d 413, 420 (5th Cir. 2001)). Alternatively, in order to support the exercise of specific jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2), plaintiffs must establish that "its [Helms-Burton] cause of action arises from or is directly related to Defendant's contacts with the United States, and that [APMM and/or Maersk A/S] purposefully availed itself of the privilege of conducting activities within the United States." Fintech Fund, 327 F.Supp.3d at 1019 (citing Helicopteros, 466 U.S. at 414 n.8 and Burger King, 105 S.Ct. at 2183) (emphasis added).

Without question, Patterson directly controls the question of Rule 4(k)(2) general jurisdiction here, and it instructs that the only way Rule 4(k)(2) could afford this Honorable Court general jurisdiction over APMM and Maersk A/S is if either entity's contacts are so systematic and so continuous as to render either "essentially at home" in America compared to its contacts elsewhere, and that is not the case. As shown herein and in the attached Declarations, neither APMM's nor Maersk A/S's contacts with the United States as a whole satisfy that stringent standard. Given that APMM's and Maersk A/S's operations are undoubtedly centered in Denmark, with all substantive business and shipping operations originating from there,[35] both companies are "at home" in Denmark and are not "essentially at home" in the United States, which forecloses general jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2).

Moreover, plaintiffs also cannot satisfy the required standards for specific personal jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2). Most critically, plaintiffs fail to plead any credible connection between their statutory Helms-Burton claims and either APMM's or Maersk A/S's contacts with the United States, and certainly have not plead any facts that show the requisite substantial tri-partite connection per Walden and Bristol-Myers Squibb, supra. As discussed above, plaintiffs' effort to tie the A/S PETRA to the United States and the Port of Mariel fails in the face of the records and declared facts, and the other vessels discussed in the Complaint either did not call the Port of Mariel at all or did not do so from any United States port.[36] In short, try as they might, plaintiffs cannot show any substantive link between their Helms-Burton claims and any America-related Maersk activity, which defeats specific jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2). And while that shortcoming is fatal on its own to any specific jurisdiction inquiry, plaintiffs also cannot show that either of the foreign Maersk defendants purposefully availed themselves of the privilege of conducting activities within the United States to the level necessary to assuage

[35] Exhibit 1, ¶¶ 10-27.
[36] Exhibit 2, ¶¶ 8-13.

constitutional concerns.[37]

The Teck Resources decision from the Southern District of Florida (discussed supra) also delved into a Rule 4(k)(2) analysis with respect to plaintiff's Helms-Burton claim, and it further shows that Rule 4(k)(2) jurisdiction is not allowable here. 2021 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 80235 at *9-13. Emphasizing that it is the named defendant's own contacts with the United States that must be examined, the court first found that the plaintiff had failed to allege specific conduct by defendant Teck itself in the United States, thus foreclosing general jurisdiction under Rule 4(k)(2). Id. at *11-12. And then, the court further held that even if United States contacts could have been attributed to the foreign-country defendant, "they cannot be said to be related to the unlawful trafficking in the confiscated property in Cuba," which precluded specific jurisdiction under the Rule. Id. at *12-13. Thus, in "determin[ing] whether the exercise of federal jurisdiction over Teck would comport with the Constitution and the laws of the United States, in other words, comports with due process[,] [t]he answer is a resounding no." Id. at *10 (emphasis added).

Plaintiffs' claim here clearly revolves around Cuban property and – while vehemently denied – the Maersk defendants' purported dealings and/or business in Cuba. Without any significant tie to United States conduct, Rule 4(k)(2) specific jurisdiction is simply not available for plaintiffs' claims, as the exercise of same would offend constitutional due process. See, e.g., Submersible Sys., 249 F.3d at 420 (holding Rule 4(k)(2) could not afford jurisdiction and stating that "[i]n analyzing Central's contacts with the United States, we must keep in mind that this case does not arise out of Central's contacts with the United States [and] [a]ll the events constituting Central's conversion of SSI's equipment … took place in Mexico"); MWK Recruiting, supra at *23-27; Spike, LLC, supra at *11.

[37] See generally Exhibit 1.

Owing to the facts that the foreign Maersk defendants are not "essentially at home" in the United States and the requisite relationship between the claim and defendants' U.S. contacts is wholly absent, Rule 4(k)(2) cannot and does not afford this Honorable Court personal jurisdiction over APMM or Maersk A/S, which warrants dismissal.

Conclusion

In sum, the governing jurisprudence and overarching constitutional concerns require that plaintiffs' Complaint against the four Maersk defendants be dismissed for lack of personal jurisdiction. Since Louisiana is not a paradigm forum for any of the named Maersk defendants and none is "essentially at home" here, general jurisdiction is not available under the controlling Supreme Court standards. And because there is no link between Louisiana and plaintiffs' Cuba-based claims, specific jurisdiction likewise is not available as the requisite "substantial connection" is nonexistent. Lastly, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2) does not afford personal jurisdiction over the foreign Maersk defendants, as plaintiffs' Helms-Burton claims are not related to any United States contacts that APMM or Maersk A/S may have and neither entity is "essentially at home" in the United States.

Therefore, because the exercise of personal jurisdiction would offend constitutional due process concerns and the traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice, defendants respectfully request that this Honorable Court grant its Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction and dismiss this action without prejudice.

DECLARATION UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO DISMISS FOR LACK OF PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1. My name is KEITH WILLIAMS, I am of the age of majority, and I have personal knowledge of all matters stated herein.
2. I am currently employed by Maersk Line UK Ltd. as a Site Reliability Engineer based out of its office in Maidenhead, United Kingdom. Upon information and belief, Maersk Line UK Ltd. is a subsidiary of Maersk A/S and Maersk A/S in turn is a subsidiary of A.P. Moller-Maersk A/S ("APMM"). Among other things, Maersk Line UK Ltd. provides IT-related services to certain entities within the APMM group of companies, including Maersk A/S. I have been employed by Maersk Line UK Ltd. in this position at all times relevant to this litigation.
3. Maersk A/S is a global container shipping business and utilizes an in-house vessel scheduling application called GSIS.
4. GSIS includes details of past, planned and present port calls by vessels operating as Maersk A/S vessels or otherwise as vessels carrying cargo for Maersk A/S clients. GSIS does not include any vessel port call information for a vessel where there otherwise is no APMM entity operation of the vessel or where there is no agreement for APMM to place its clients' cargoes on such vessel.

Classification: Public

5. Specifically, GSIS identifies whether a vessel is chartered or owned by a Maersk entity, or operated by a third party, under the heading "Type" at column I of the attached exhibits for the six (6) vessels discussed herein. For each vessel, none are or were ever owned by any APMM entity, including Maersk A/S. All such vessels were either chartered by an APMM entity (thus, indicating "C" at column I of the respective exhibit), operated by a third party feeder service where an APMM entity has contracted with such service to place its customers' containers on such vessel (thus, indicting "F" at column I of the respective exhibit) or operated by another shipping line wherein an APMM entity has an agreement with such shipping line to place its customers' containers on such vessel (thus, indicating "V" at column I of the respective exhibit)Data is retained in GSIS for a minimum of seven (7) years.
6. I have been designated as the GSIS service owner. This means that I am responsible for IT management of the GSIS application, including application availability, performance and integrity.
7. I have queried the GSIS application in regards to the six (6) vessels referenced in the Complaint filed in this action for data dating back to 1 January 2016 and through 1 July 2021, as I am informed that the complaint in the above-captioned action alleges activity of these vessels dating back to 2016 and on specific dates thereafter as specified herein. As discussed below in more detail, the exhibits attached hereto for each of the six (6) vessels contains information on all activities of each vessels for the time period from 1 January 2016 to 1 July 2021 within the above-specified scope of information available in GSIS.

Classification: Public

8. According to GSIS, the A/S PETRA did not call the Port of Mariel in a voyage from the Port of New Orleans on or about 20 January 2020, 31 January 2020, 20 May 2020 or 12 August 2020. In fact, the A/S PETRA never called at the Port of Mariel between 1 January 2016 and 1 July 2021 while in operation for any Maersk entity, and never called the Port of New Orleans between 30 July 2018 and 20 October 2020 while in operation for any Maersk entity. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a true and correct copy of the GSIS report for the A/S Petra from 1 January 2016 through 1 July 2021.
9. According to GSIS, the ARTEMIS did not call the Port of Mariel on or about 15 August 2019, and never called the Port of Mariel between 1 January 2016 and 1 July 2021 while in operation for any Maersk entity. Attached as Exhibit B hereto is a true and correct copy of the GSIS report for the ARTEMIS from 1 January 2016 through 1 July 2021.
10. According to GSIS, the GALANI called the Port of Mariel on or around 15 February 2019, but she was not operated as a Maersk vessel or a Maersk-chartered vessel at that time, and was instead operated by a third party under a commercial agreement. Attached hereto as Exhibit C is a true and correct copy of the GSIS report for the GALANI from 1 January 2016 through 1 July 2021. Column H of the GSIS report confirms that the vessel was operated by a third party at the time of its call in Mariel. Exhibit C also confirms that the GALANI had not called the United States prior to the above call in Mariel. It also confirms that the GALANI did not call the Port of Mariel on or about 16 December 2018 or 8 September 2019, while in operation for any Maersk entity or otherwise, as no data is in GSIS for these two dates.
11. According to GSIS, the GEESKE did not call the Port of Mariel on or about 22 or 25 December 2019 while in operation by or for any Maersk entity, and the vessel did not call the Port of Mariel while in operation for any Maersk entity at any time between 1 January 2016 and 1 July 2021. Attached hereto as Exhibit D is a true and correct copy of the GSIS report for the GALANI from 1 January 2016 through 1 July 2021.

12. According to GSIS, the MACAO STRAIT did not call the Port of Mariel on or about 18 April 2020 or 23 July 2020 while in operation by or for any Maersk entity. Attached hereto as Exhibit E is a true and correct copy of the GSIS report for the MACAO STRAIT from 1 January 2016 through 1 June 2021. According to Exhibit E, the MACAO STRAIT called the Port of Mariel on or about 25 April 2018, 10 May 2018, 24 May 2018, 7 June 2018, 20 February 2020 and 4 March 2020, but not as a Maersk owned or chartered vessel, and was instead operated by a third party under a commercial agreement. This is evidenced in Column H of Exhibit E. At some point between 1 January 2016 and 1 July 2021, the MACAO STRAIT changed name to the MACAO; however, the IMO number (9362724) which is the vessel's true identifier, has remained the same.

13. According to GSIS, the ALGOL did not call the Port of Mariel on or about 3 September 2020 or 2 February 2021 while in operation by or for any Maersk entity. According to Exhibit F, the ALGOL called the Port of Mariel on or about 5 January 2021 and 23 January 2021, but not as a Maersk owned or chartered vessel, and was instead operated by a third party under a commercial agreement. Attached hereto as Exhibit F is a true and correct copy of the GSIS report for the ALGOL from 1 January 2016 through 1 July 2021.

14. I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct.
